Hello Fellow Pulaskian’s! As this is my final message to you as President, I must say that it has been an honor and a privilege to represent the FINEST Fraternal Organization the NYPD has ever known. It has been hard work, taken much diligence and has been a very rewarding experience. “No good deed goes undone.” For all the members that show up to meetings, attend our multitude of events, trips and show undying support, I thank you from the bottom of my heart. We must always remember that cooperation and participation create life and vibrancy within the Pulaski Association, so help out, volunteer, donate and support our Polish and Slavic Heritage every chance you have. The HONOR has truly been all mine. Thank you!

Our 58th Annual Installation Dinner Dance will be held at Leonard’s of Great Neck on Friday, April 11th, 2014 at 7PM. We are very proud to announce our 2014 Man of the Year, the Honorable Judge Gregory L. Lasak of Queens Supreme Court. Judge Lasak is 100% Polish and everyone is excited to have him with us for this memorable evening. This is going to be a BIG night, so please purchase your tickets early!

The Pulaski Day Parade down 5th Avenue was held on Sunday, October 6th and was well attended. Family, friends and even canines had a good time marching that day! Many thanks go to Benny, Tommy, Henry and Tony L. who always volunteer their time to prepare the delicious food that make our meetings and events so special. Great job by our 1st V.P. Christina Gryziec for securing the buses for transportation.

The 25th Anniversary Buczek/Hoban Memorial Mass was held on Friday, October 18th in the 34th Precinct. The tremendous support shown every year by the NYPD, local community and the schoolchildren always brings joy and admiration to the Buczek and Hoban families.

On Wednesday, October 23rd, NYC Comptroller John C. Liu hosted the Polish Heritage & Culture night at the Surrogate’s Courthouse on Chambers Street. It was a wonderful evening of honors, awards, dancing, music and authentic Polish food. John is a true friend of Polonia and we appreciate his dedication to the Polish community.

The Polish American Congress Honored the NYPD Pulaski Association at their annual Banquet held on October 26th in Greenpoint. Stefan Komar, Greg Chupa, Richard Narog and myself attended this event with our beautiful ladies and we had a great time. A special thanks goes to President Frank Milewski for bestowing this honor upon us and presenting a plaque to the entire organization.

In conclusion, show support to the new 2014 Board of Officers and admire the task they have sworn to perform for you. May we always bond, celebrate and be eager to help one another out and bring forth growth and prosperity for the NYPD Pulaski Association of the New York City Police Department. SUPPORT YOUR ORGANIZATION! STO LAT!

The Sad News

Former Pulaski Board Member Albert J Matousek passed away May 18, 2013. Al was a Korean War veteran before his appointment to the Department in 1968. He was first assigned to the Bronx but was reassigned to Queens when a picture of him, protesting the police layoffs of the 1970s, was published. Since his retirement in 1981 he enjoyed command reunions as well as hanging out in the kitchen with Benny at Pulaski meetings. Al is sorely missed by his family, retired Lieutenant Al Matousek, active Lieutenant Chris Matousak, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

LifeTime Member Frank Waluk passed away October 17, 2013. Frank was born in Brooklyn in 1925 and appointed to the Department in 1955. A number of Frank’s stories from his time in the Emergency Service Unit appeared in “Some Very Special Men,” a book written by Cy Egan about the activities of ESU. Two hours after his retirement from the Department in 1973, he was on his way to Florida where later, he was profiled in his local paper (to read the article, go to: http://nypdpulaski.org/In_Memorial.html). In 2004, Frank survived a direct hit from Hurricane Charley which destroyed his home. Two of Frank’s children were recipients of the Pulaski High School Scholarships, awards that the Waluk family haven’t forgotten. In lieu of flowers, his family - sons Jan and Joseph, daughter Martina, grandsons and great-granddaughter - requested donations be made to the NYPD Pulaski Scholarship Fund. We remember Frank for his many years of faithful membership, and we thank his family and friends for their thoughtful gift in their time of grief.

Lifetime Member Arthur Zapolski passed away peacefully in his sleep on June 30, 2013, at the age of 92. Arthur was a World War II veteran and served in Panama, the Caribbean and Pacific before his discharge as a staff sergeant in 1945. He married the love of his life, Trudy Wisnieski, and shared 30 wonderful years before her death in 1979. Artie retired from the New York City Police Department after 20 years and put in another 20 years with Irving Trust Company. He later moved to Manchester, New Jersey, to be closer to his family. Our condolences to his son Art and daughter-in-law Alice.

The Pulaski Association hosted a children’s Christmas party on December 7, and a good time was had by the 35 children and parents who attended. Representatives from the Mounted and Canine Units came as did Bauldy the Clown who entertained the children with feats of magic and the adults with humor.

To view more pictures of the party, go to the Pulaski Association site at: http://nypdpulaski.org/Home_Page.html.

Many thanks to Santa and his Pulaski elves who made this event possible!

Before & After

Since I retired, I have the feeling that retirees are sometimes treated as second class citizens, as witnessed by Loretta Paskor’s retirement photo. Many retirees are given best wishes for a happy retirement, but all Loretta got when she retired was a mug shot...of herself!

No matter, Loretta - we know you didn’t do it and wish you

HAPPY 90TH BIRTHDAY!

The Pulaski Association’s out-going President Michael Lukowski (left), with his uncle retired Deputy Inspector Walter Lukowski and Inspector Lukowski daughter, retired Police Officer Denise Lukowski. Denise is wearing the yellow braid at her Police Academy graduation, signifying that she graduated in the top 20% of her class.

These two Pulaski members were friends for over 25 years. Lifetime member Tom Jakubowski on the right (aka Santa Claus, but don’t tell the kids) and Associate Member Philip Dioliggi sharing a beer at a recent meeting.

I am still looking for more pictures of Pulaski members who are related, friends, dating or married; they can be emailed to me at KasiaJ@aol.com or mailed to me at the below address. Please include the names, ranks, status (active or retired), telephone numbers or other information with your photo.

The Polish Bolshevik War 1919 – 1921

By Stefan Komar

Poland, after 123 years of occupation by the three powers of Russia, Prussia, and Austria, tried to regain independence outside of the destruction of World War One, during which the occupying powers had fought one another to the point of collapse of Tsarist Russia, and also Austro-Hungary. The territories that had belonged to the Commonwealth were devastated by the passing frontiers of the battling armies, but this did not diminish the anticipation and preparation by the Polish population to reassert claims for sovereignty which were widely known at the time in many countries and governments.

Each of the occupying powers, to mobilize drafted Polish soldiers to enthusiastically fight within the ranks of their respective armies, had presented their own plans for some form of Polish self-determination, which would take place upon conclusion of the war. In addition, Poles had previously secured the sympathies of many around the globe for the idea of freedom for Poland, through their efforts and sacrifices for the freedom of others. After repeated Polish rebellions were crushed by the combined forces of the three occupying countries, Polish freedom fighters, compelled to flee repressions, became famous around the globe, fighting for Poland, and other national liberation movements, such as those in Hungary, Latvia, and Lithuania. They impressed revolutionaries, and even Haitians, under the slogan “for your freedom and ours”. Not surprisingly, the idea of a resurgent Polish state, was specifically included in the goals laid out by the leaders of the Russian and Lithuanian States, who wanted to establish themselves as independent entities, and were implemented at the Treaty of Versailles. The boundaries, however, were left open for future negotiations.

The chaos in Eastern Europe towards the end of World War I widened. The situation in Poland was made even more complex when the Russian authorities proposed the creation of a Federation of ethnic states that would represent most of the areas resulting, with some turning into outright local wars. As the Bolsheviks again, this time in earnest, initiated a peace offer, they disarmed the Polish authorities, and offered the Poles borders that were close to that of the Polish territory.

As the Bolshevik armies drew nearer to Warsaw, the Polish population decisively rose up to defend their newly acquired freedom, while disregarding calls by Communists to aid the Bolsheviks. Cooper felt obliged to pay back the debt he felt America owed to Poland as it tries to sort the truth from the falsehoods that are now being slowly confronted by the nascent independent Poland. A deceptive propaganda machine of international proportions, in alliance with a clear disdain for what they called “Fascist” Poland,” the Poles preemptively struck first but were unable to repel the onslaught of the Bolshevik armies, and that Western Europe, demobilized following World War I, would quickly fall. As the governments of Western Europe sent military aid to Poland, a counter offensive that drove the Poles back to Warsaw. In the south of Poland, the large cavalry army which had previously wreaked havoc behind Polish lines and then headed to besiege Warsaw, and thereby contributing to the Bolshevik defeat. Where the Polish victory was dubbed a miracle, but Polish military experts believed that the victory was in part due to the fact that the Poles had deciphered Bolshevik communications codes and were well informed of Bolshevik plans, strategies, and strengths, and were able to prepare for an attack.

An interesting story from the Polish Bolshevik War was the creation of an air force squadron, called the Kosciuszko Aviation Corps. The Polish victory was due in part to the fact that the Poles had won the support of the Allies, who had promised to send aid. Meanwhile, the Polish victory was due in part to the fact that the Poles had deciphered Bolshevik communications codes and were well informed of Bolshevik plans, strategies, and strengths, and were able to prepare for an attack. Cooper arranged for financing of the air force squadron, and he and others volunteered their services to fight for Poland from the sky, and in doing so, the Blue Army was made up of Polish emigrants from around the world that had joined in the fight, and managed to deliver supplies from France against Germany in the name of a Poland that had yet to be created. This army included a group of 20,000 Polish Americans who, with permission of the US and Canadian governments, were trained by Polish Officers on both sides of the Atlantic and armed and uniforms paid for with funds raised by Polonia. They then shipped off by boat to France from New York as an independent military formation to join Poles from elsewhere. At the end of World War I, supplemented over time by increased numbers of Polish pilots, fought in the Polish Blue Army, which was to become one of the most famous units in the Allied forces.

While the Polish victory secured the freedom of Poland for another 20 years, and saved the Western democracies from facing a true Nazi tide, it was created with an enormous cost, and in the twilight of the First World War, the Poles were facing two important problems: One, the Poles were facing a new enemy, the Poles, who had overthrown its own Communist government, tried sending a 30,000 cavalry to assist Poland, but was unable to do so because they were not allowed transit by bordering countries. Hungary did succeed, however, in sending badly needed supplies. The Poles preemptively struck first but were unable to repel the onslaught of the Bolshevik armies, and that Western Europe, demobilized following World War I, would quickly fall. As the governments of Western Europe sent military aid to Poland, a counter offensive that drove the Poles back to Warsaw. In the south of Poland, the large cavalry army which had previously wreaked havoc behind Polish lines and then headed to besiege Warsaw, and thereby contributing to the Bolshevik defeat.

Waiting for the Bolsheviks were revolutionaries who had already managed to organize Communist takeovers in several areas, including those of the Inland War I governments, although victorious, with their populations exhausted by World War I, and with their own Communists preparing to receive in anticipation of arming themselves and the Poles.

As the Poles and the allied World War I armies, had proposed their own plans for some form of Polish self-determination, which would take place upon conclusion of the war. In addition, Poles had previously secured the sympathies of many around the globe for the idea of freedom for Poland, through their efforts and sacrifices for the freedom of others.
